President's Message

*William R. Brightbill,
FCSI, CCCA, CCPR
Interim-President*

Greetings! Here's hoping that all of you had a fantastic summer!! But it's time to get back to chapter business.

As you may already know, I have agreed to fill the unexpired term of Jan Myers as President of our Central PA Chapter. Jan has some business dealings that will consume a good bid of her time in the next several months and decided to relinquish her duties as President in order to give her full attention to her business. Jan will continue to remain involved in chapter activities. We wish her well and look forward to seeing her at our September meeting.

In addition to serving as Chapter President, I will continue to perform the duties of Chapter Treasurer. Our Board could have chosen to move our President-Elect, Eric Hardenbrook, immediately into the position of President. That however would have required Eric to serve Jan's remaining term plus his two year term commitment. Additionally, it would require filling the position of President-Elect and thus throw several Board positions out of sequence. I do not view my agenda for this coming year as aggressive. My main goal is to do the best that I can to prepare Eric for his term as President, and to represent our chapter at the Region and the Institute level.

Speaking of our September meeting, Chris Atwood, our program chair, has line up yet another great program for us on "Contract Warranty and Correction Provisions". You don't want to miss this candid discussion on a very critical and potentially costly phase of the construction cycle.

Many thanks to all who participated in our successful hosting of this past May's Middle Atlantic Region Conference, especially Charlie Beauduy. We all know and ap-

Former President's Message

*Charlie Beauduy,
CSI Institute
Treasurer*

As I write this note I'm encouraged at the outlook for our Chapter. We recently hosted a very successful Region Conference in Gettysburg and our Chapter Leaders continue to put on great programs. While I wasn't there on the recent tour of the new PSECU headquarters building I heard it was a very educational and enlightening tour. These types of quality programs are what we need to provide our members with the timely technical and educational learning opportunities that can enhance their careers and broaden their knowledge base. My hat goes off to the Program Committee for their continued success in planning our meetings. These learning opportunities, along with the networking that goes on at our meetings is what it is all about. There is no question that the last four years have been extremely hard on our industry – but our Chapter has weathered the storm and I see a bright future ahead for us. It will be challenging no doubt, especially engaging the younger generation and individuals new to our industry and exposing them to the benefits of being a member of this great organization. In order to grow our Chapter and get more members involved we each have to champion the cause. If you are a member and not active – come to a meeting; if you attend our meetings and would like to get involved speak up; and if you are a member and realize the value this organization brings to your professional life – make it known and recruit a new member!

This is our 50th Year – so please join us as we celebrate this milestone. Details of the time and place for this event will be publicized shortly. If you would like to help with the planning of this event please contact Bill Brightbill. I'm looking forward to this event – our goal is to get as many members, past Presidents and past members as we can to attend. So once we finalize the details – spread the word!

I would also like to report that our President, Jan Myers, has resigned effective July 1, 2013 due to personal reasons. We want to thank her for her service as President this past year and the volunteerism she has given the Chapter over the years. We look forward to welcoming her back at some point in the future. The Board has not named a successor at this point but will over the coming weeks*.

Stay cool and enjoy those vacations and time spent with family and friends this summer and I hope to see all of you in September!

preciate the fact that we rely totally on the volunteer time invested by our members in chapter activities. Your efforts are greatly appreciated.

We've got a very busy year ahead of us here at the Central PA Chapter of CSI. We have the CSI Construct Convention & Exhibit Show being held 9/24 thru 9/27.

SAVE THIS DATE 11/12/13..... That's when we will be celebrating the 50th Anniversary of the Central PA Chapter of CSI. Your attendance and participation in making this a celebration that we will all remember will be greatly. You will be receiving an invitation for this event. Watch for details.

I'll close for this month by saying that your chapter needs you now more than ever. We would like to see as many of you as possible at our chapter meetings. If you can volunteer time as a committee chair or member, that would be fantastic. GET INVOLVED AT SOME LEVEL !!

See you at the September meeting.

Minutes of Board of Directors Special Meeting - July 31

*Chris Atwood,
CSI, AIA
Roster Chair*

Date: July 31, 2013 5:00 p.m.

Location: Offices of Gannett Fleming, 207 Senate Ave., Camp Hill, PA and by telephone conference call (presence noted by underlined names).

Voting Members Present (10): E. Hardenbrook, R. Loftin, W. Brightbill, J. Groff, T. Ness, J. Burkholder, L. Saylor, J. Kingsborough, W. Deck, and C. Atwood.

Voting Members Absent (3): J. Danes, J. Turicik, and J. Morgan.

Non-Voting Committee Chairs/Co-Chairs Present: D. Scruggs, C. Beau duy, J. Snyder

Background Summary: With the resignation of President Jan Myers in early July, this special meeting of the Board was proposed and scheduled during the July 9, 2013 Board Meeting in order to address the filling of the vacant position of President and issues related to the Chapter's 50th Anniversary plans. The special meeting date was initially set for July 30, but later revised to July 31 by e-mail consensus.

This special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Central Pennsylvania Chapter of the Construction Specifications Institute was called to order by general consensus of those present. A quorum of voting members was present. In the absence of the recording secretary, Mr. Atwood recorded the minutes.

Regarding the Vacant Position of Chapter President: After several minutes of discussion about the idea of moving

Mr. Hardenbrook into the position of President, and hearing Mr. Hardenbrook's thoughts, the course of discussion changed to considering alternatives. At this point, Mr. Brightbill made it known that he would be willing to fill the position for the remainder of the term (through the end of June 2014), while remaining Treasurer, although he requested that the Board start looking into finding a replacement for him as Treasurer. Mr. Atwood made a motion that the Board accept Mr. Brightbill's offer. The motion was seconded by Mr. Groff. The motion passed with 9 yeas and 0 nays (Mr. Saylor was absent, not having yet arrived). [Nine affirmative votes constitutes the 2/3 majority required by Article 4, Section 8 of the Chapter Bylaws to appoint a person to fill a vacant chapter office.]

Regarding the 50th Anniversary Plans:

- Mr. Brightbill noted that, while a new Anniversary Committee chair should also be found if possible, he would continue to work closely with others on the committee to guide the planning.
- It was agreed that the date for the anniversary celebration will be Tuesday evening, November 12, 2013, in lieu of the regular monthly dinner meeting, with the location being Liberty Forge.
- Bill Deck will coordinate creation of an anniversary booklet and is seeking copies of prior versions.
- Jim Frey will send letters of invitation to prior Chapter Presidents, and is seeking a complete list and contact information for them.

Minutes of Board of Directors Meeting - August 13

*Jeff Turicik,
Recording Secretary*

Date: August 13, 2013
Board Meeting Brought to order at 5:15 PM

Location: Conestoga Tile Conference Room, Harrisburg, PA

Attendance: Eric Hardenbrook, Bill Brightbill, Bob Lofton, Bill Deck, Jake Burkholder (by phone), Jeff Turicik

President Brightbill's opening comments revolved around the July special board meeting and the voting process, and results. He is president and will fill out the term of former President Myers. Bill also asked for input about the Radisson and the meal arrangement for the September meeting. The Buffet style dinner will continue, and Logan Myers is to be notified.

The Convention is next month in Nashville, TN

Officers Reports:

President-Elect Hardenbrook; Asked for event and critical dates for the Chapter calendar online, and for all chapter events. Mr. H also mentioned ideas from the Presidents meeting he attended on line, and there was discussion about Chapter Trade Shows. Mr. H concluded by saying that he had located the Chapter Operations Guide and it is in his hands.

President and Treasurer Brightbill will present the budget at the September meeting.

There was no monetary activity in July.

The excess Region Conference funds are going to be applied to the 50th Anniversary dinner, now scheduled for November at Liberty Forge Golf club House.

Advertising: Bill Deck reported that the mailings and advertising invoices are going out next month, and he is working on photos for the 50th anniversary dinner celebration.

Certification: Bob Lofton, No report.

Membership: Currently at 104, reported by Eric Hardenbrook.

Trade Show: Trade Show ideas and improvements were discussed. Hours and Guest Speaker timing was the main topic. Vendor Bingo, Stamp Card, and Show Location were brought up. The location of and type of lunch was also discussed. A meeting of President Brightbill, Mr. Cluck, and Mr. Beauduy will be held on August 15th to further these ideas, and put in place a plan to improve the trade show.

Comments: President Brightbill noted that he is reaching out to past presidents to attend the 50th Anniversary Dinner Celebration on November 12th. President Brightbill noted the passing of former CSI President Lance Dutry.

Meeting concluded 6:20 PM.

*Sincerely,
Jeff Turicik*

Chapter Recording Secretary

- Jeff Snyder will seek photographs of past Chapter events from the archives that are in the care of John Morgan.

Mr. Brightbill and Mr. Hardenbrook both plan to attend the Region "Presidents Meeting" in Frederick, MD, on August 10. It was noted that the Chapter Report has yet to be compiled and submitted for this meeting.

It was agreed that CHOICE would not be issued in August, but that effort would be made to issue the September edition earlier than the usual first of the month.

It was agreed to schedule the next Board Meeting for 5:00 PM on August 13th at the Ganflec offices in Camp Hill.

*Respectfully submitted,
Chris Atwood
Fill-in for Recording Secretary*

Curmudgeon's Corner

Awards and honors...

Each year, most organizations set aside one day to acknowledge the efforts of their members, and to honor those who have made significant contributions. CSI is no exception; we have award ceremonies at chapter, region, and Institute levels. The crowning moments take place at the annual convention, where Institute awards are presented, where we honor those selected for Distinguished Membership, and where we honor those who have been elevated to Fellowship. While the criteria for most awards are fairly straightforward and easy to understand, there is a mystique surrounding Fellowship; but more on that later. I suspect many members don't give these affairs much thought, unless they are nominees, but it's worth taking a few moments to consider what awards and honors signify. To be meaningful, an award must be earned, and it must represent something important.

Contributions must be acknowledged

Acknowledgement of effort and contribution is always important, perhaps more so in a volunteer organization. In the business world, success and achievement are rewarded by increased salary, bonuses, and other perquisites; the commonly accepted, though often inaccurate, measure of one's value is the paycheck. The more important you are perceived to be, the more you make. Honors and recognition may be important in business, but rarely do they take precedence over money.

In the world of professional organizations, there may be an occasional cash reward, but in most cases, outstanding work is recognized by an award or honor, often accompanied by a plaque or other object of little intrinsic value, presented at a ceremony attended by the recipient's peers.

The value of any award depends on a number of things: the requirements that must be met, the uniqueness of the award, the total number of awards presented, the importance of the organization making the award, and so on. Even though a plaque in itself isn't worth much, what it represents can mean a great deal to the recipient, the organization, or a larger community.

There is no doubt that we must recognize effort and contributions, but for that recognition to have meaning, differentiation is necessary. If awards are to have value, they must reflect the degree of effort they represent. Is sitting at a registration table equivalent to creating a new education program? Is merely holding an office and voting at board meetings equivalent to demonstrating leadership while in the same office? All of these things deserve recognition, but that recognition should reflect the effort involved. The logical result is a hierarchy of awards, ranging from a simple "Thank you!" to honors that are intended to acknowledge achievements that are "above and beyond."

Always say "Thank you!"

Work of short duration should be acknowledged immediately. A simple "thank you" often is enough, but that is the absolute minimum required. Most people don't expect a plaque for doing small jobs, but they do expect and deserve an expression of thanks. An oral expression of thanks at a chapter meeting is appropriate for the people at the registration table, and certainly for those who organized the current chapter meeting. Some will consider it an anachronism, but I believe a short written thank-you remains appropriate, and may have even more impact in today's world of tweeting and texting.

Formal letters of acknowledgement, on the organization letterhead, should be used for more significant contributions. A copy should be sent to the recipient's employer, especially if the work recognized is related to the recipient's job. This will tell the employer that the employee is respected in the construction industry, and will promote CSI at the same time.

Finally, for the most important awards at each level, plaques or other gifts that can be displayed are appropriate. Using such gifts for all levels of awards reduces their value, and, because volunteers usually keep volunteering and receive more than one award, recipients must decide which ones to display.

I suspect all people enjoy having some visible manifestation of awards, but after receiving a few, they may not have a place for them. I have seen offices with walls full of plaques, but not many; most people choose their favorite few for display and store the rest, eventually throwing them away. Awards committees should look for alternatives to plaques; useful gifts with the organization logo will be appreciated. Shirts, hard hats, hats, key chains, coasters, Matchbox toys, tape measures, levels, business card holders, and other gifts may be more welcome than plaques.

How many awards?

Awards committees are in an awkward position. Understandably, they want to present awards; unfortunately, at least from what I have seen, nominations are rare. Without voluntary suggestions, committees have little choice but to solicit nominations. While there is nothing wrong with that, it's important to not present awards just for the sake of presenting awards. Many people do work that goes unrecognized, but it's entirely possible that no one in a given group did anything worthy of note!

Presenting too many awards reduces their value, and the more important the award or honor, the greater the devaluation. I once saw a chapter newsletter with the banner headline, "104 awards presented!" We aren't first-graders; we should understand that if everyone gets a trophy, those trophies mean nothing. I recall a tale about a local police chief, who, after making a presentation, was given the usual plaque. His sotto voce comment: "Just what I need; another shy plaque." Of course, the value of such a plaque may depend on how many a person has received, something the awards committee should consider. Think of it this way: The more awards there are of a given type, the less the value of that award - and the higher the award, the greater the impact.

Next month, we'll look at CSI's highest honors: Distinguished Membership, Honorary Membership, and Fellowship.

include a discussion of sample industry contracts regarding warranties, disclaimers of warranties, and cure provisions.

Learning Objectives: This course will help attendees to:

- Understand the types of warranties in construction contracts and specifications.
- Understand the relationship between warranties and the cure (or correction) period.
- Understand the effect of various warranty disclaimers and what constitutes a breach of warranty.
- Understand the responsibilities of manufacturers and each party to a construction contract in a warranty claim or request for correction.
